DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The limitation of “foot” specifically limits the claim to particular part of the human body. A claim directed to or including within its scope a human being or attributes of a human being is not patentable subject matter. See MPEP §2105 and 1077 OG 24 (April 21, 1987).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. The claims include the use of the word “for” which indicates intended use. A claim containing a “recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus” if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987).

If Applicant(s) desire to give the phrase patentable weight, the Examiner respectfully recommends Applicant(s) remove "for" from the phrase where intended use is not desired.

5. Claims 1-2, 4, 6, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Magnuson.

Magnuson (embodiment shown in Fig. 4) discloses a foot and heel support device comprising: a foot support peg 20, a bracket 12, a heel rest including an elongated heel rest arm 11, and a laterally extending heel rest wall 16 fixed to the heel rest arm, the laterally extending heel rest wall in alignment with and extending away from the foot support peg in a working position, and a pivot connection 33, wherein said heel rest arm has a leg extending laterally from the arm at an end of the arm opposite from the pivot, and wherein the heel rest arm is of length to extend such that the leg fits adjacent an end of the foot support member when the heel rest is in the stored position, a portion of the heel rest wall is secured to the laterally extending leg.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Magnuson in view of Lin.

Magnuson discloses the claimed invention except a plurality of elastomeric strips along the upper surface of the foot peg.

Art Unit: 3611

It is known in the art, for example as shown by Lin, to place elastomeric strips along the upper surface of a foot peg. The strips increase traction between a rider's shoe and the peg.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Magnuson by providing elastomeric strip, in view of Lin, in order to increase traction between a rider's shoe and the peg.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 10-15 are allowed.
9. Claim 5 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited prior art disclose motorcycle foot pegs and heel rests.
